IMPORTANT NOTES.....	1
COURSE INTRODUCTION.....	3
GRADUATE SCHOOL GENERAL COURSES TIMETABLE.....	12

Period 1: 17th January to 14th February

Period 2: 15th February to 18th February

Period 3: 19th February to 21th February

Basic required courses (i.e. general degree courses) withdrawal deadline:
28th February

Other courses withdrawal deadline: 6th March

1. Postgraduate students (including exchange students and scholars) can register for their desired courses via the on-line course registration system during the course registration periods.
2. There are two times for course selection in each academic year, one in late August/early September (Autumn Semester) and the other in January/February (Spring Semester). The actual dates vary from year to year depending on the academic calendar.
3. Curriculum schedule of the English taught programs can be downloaded from the Graduate School homepage <http://gs.xmu.edu.cn/en/>.
4. Students are strongly encouraged to consult their supervisors or program secretary/coordinator the courses they should be required to take before starting to register for courses.
5. Preparation for Course Selection
  - a) Read the regulations.
  - b) Check the study schedule of your program.
  - c) Check the teaching timetable.

- d) Check the course selection schedule and confirm whether selection of courses is required by your program.
6. Students can sign up for courses during the course registration periods or withdraw the selected courses before the course withdrawal deadline. The course withdrawal deadline is normally one week after the course selection period (please refer to the schedule of the relevant semester). After the course withdrawal period, students will not be allowed to drop any courses.
  7. Students who fail to complete the entire lessons or to participate in course work and examinations will receive zero score for that course.
  8. Please be reminded that the course selection system may get “crowded” when the deadline is near. Therefore, students are suggested to sign up for or withdraw from any course as early as possible.

Postgraduate courses are generally divided into three categories: general courses, required courses and optional courses. General courses are offered by the graduate school.

Below is the introduction of general courses and English-taught courses:

There are two required General Course modules:

1. Chinese Language

- 高级汉语 (Taught in Chinese) or
- Rudiments of Chinese Language (Taught in English)
- Elementary Chinese Reading and Writing (Taught in English)

2. Introduction to China

- 中国概况 (Taught in Chinese) or
- Selected Issues on China (Taught in English)

Teaching Language	Targeted students	Course 1	Course 2
English-taught Program	PhD candidate	Rudiments of Chinese Language ( Siming Campus )	Selected Issues on China
	Postgraduate	Elementary Chinese Reading and Writing ( Xiang'an Campus )

The specific time/place/classroom/teachers and other information of these courses are available in the on-line course registration system.

Students who would like to apply for course exemption should submit their applications within the first three weeks from the beginning of every semester. Any application received after the due date will not be processed. The application documents include an “Application for Courses Exemption” form completed by the applicant and any supporting documents. Being approved by the applicant’s enrolled school/institute, which means getting the administrative director’s signature on the application form, the applicant should then submit the application form and supporting documents (original and duplicated copies), e.g., transcripts and certificates to Graduate School for a final review.

The red word “unsettled” means that the selected course has not been successfully confirmed. If your course selection has been secured, the “unsettled” in color red will change to “settled” in color green. The course status will be changed after the deadline of each course selection period. Students who do not successfully register in their desired course(s) in the first or second period can choose to sign up for other available course(s) in a subsequent period. Students will not be able to register for courses after the course selection period ends.
